SS--559 Poetics of Hebrew Narrative: The David Cycle

This course provides a detailed initiation into the narrative analysis of biblical texts, using the David Cycle as its laboratory. With an eye toward how literary techniques ("poetics") create meaning in a text, the course explores aspects such as: the unique qualities of the biblical narrator, the dynamics of narrative ordering, scenic and narrative modes of narration, various means of characterization, the artful use of repetition, macro- and micro-plots, and the role of inset poetry in biblical narrative. The theological implications of each literary means of re-presenting the history of Israel will continually emerge from the explorations undertaken, drawing out spiritual and pastoral applications for the life of the priest.
